DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(a) the invention was known or used by others in this country, or patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country, before the invention thereof by the applicant for a patent.

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

(g)(1) during the course of an interference conducted under section 135 or section 291, another inventor involved therein establishes, to the extent permitted in section 104, that before such person's invention thereof the invention was made by such other inventor and not abandoned, suppressed, or concealed, or (2) before such person's invention thereof, the invention was made in this country by another inventor who had not abandoned, suppressed, or concealed it. In determining priority of invention under this subsection, there shall be considered not only the respective dates of conception and reduction to practice of the invention, but also the reasonable diligence of one who was first to conceive and last to reduce to practice, from a time prior to conception by the other.

2. Claims 1-21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Chenal et al. (US PG PUB 2002/0072671 A1).

Chenal teaches of locating the apex of the left ventricle (LV) as shown in Figure 4 and paragraph 9. Chenal teaches of using a series of images within a loop (§ 24-25). Chenal teaches of landmark detection (§ 4). Chenal teaches of transition detection orthogonal to contour such that "Once these three major landmarks of the LV have been located, one of a number of predetermined standard shapes for the LV is fitted to the three landmarks and the endocardial wall. Three such standard shapes are shown in FIGS. 5a, 5b, and 5c. The first shape, border 62, is seen to be relatively tall and curved to the left. The second shape, border 64, is seen to be relatively short and rounded. The third shape, border 66, is more triangular. Each of these standard shapes is scaled appropriately to fit the three landmarks 26,36,46. After an appropriately scaled standard shape is fit to the three landmarks, an analysis is made of the degree to which the shape fits the border in the echo data. This may be done, for example, by measuring the distances between the shape and the heart wall at points along the shape. Such measurements are made along paths orthogonal to the shape and extending from points along the shape. The heart wall may be detected using the operation discussed in FIGS. 7a-7c, for instance. The shape which is assessed as having the closest fit to the border to be traced, by an average of the distance measurements, for instance, is chosen as the shape used in the continuation of the protocol" (§ 31).
